How did you choose your path in the green profession?

...or are you still choosing your path? Are you looking for opportunities to find a career that fulfills your need to be outside, working to enhance your life and our environment? The answer to these questions is the reason for this year's Canada Blooms Landscape Ontario Garden. If we look deeper into any landscape project being created today, we see many intertwined professions.

Environmentally friendly horticulture projects are finding their way into more and more landscapes. Property owners are realizing that by working to make a small difference, collectively we can make a big impact on our environment. Look at any large scale landscape project in detail today and you will see a multitude of professions, or the effects of them at work. Many firms are becoming multidisciplinary to design and develop for sustainability and maintenance. Without this vast array of professionals, this Garden would not be possible.

Take the time to explore and learn about what is here. We hope you leave the garden inspired and that it helps you to: Choose Your Path! For more info about green careers go to www.greencareerscanada.ca
